Space Force is looking for the best of best. Space Force is recruiting different branches of the Armed Forces: Army, Navy, Air-Force, and Marine Corps. Space Force is looking for these specialties:

- Computer Science
- Electronics
- Emergency Management/ Response
- Engineering
- Future Technologies
- Logistics & Transportation
- Missile & Space Technology

Space Force is involved in training an astronaut and all other branches of the armed force so training is very intense.

The United States Space Force (USSF) is a new branch of the Armed Forces. The United States is the first country in the world to have armed forces in outer space. Space is crucial, its the eye in the sky where we can see and hear up above.

ALWAYS ABOVE

The logo of Space Force has many meaning. The Polaris star in the center, shaped like a rocket. The black inside embodies the vast darkness of space.

WHAT IS SPACE FORCE

Space Force is more about communications. To ensure that satellites can't be intercepted , information is protected, and surveillance monitoring occurs frequently for enemy activity.

Space Force is also responsible for sending supplies to allies such as food, mediac, and ammunition. It would send supplies more quickly and efficiently.

Space Force is also designed for troops that are in outer space and can go directly into conflict or an event that recently happened. Troops in Space Force will go to places in an hour or two to stop wars and prevent them from happening.

CREATION SPACE OF FORCE

Space Force was established by the 45th President of the United States, Donald Trump. It officially came to light on December 20, 2019. President Trump saw and knew the advantages of space warfare and security. Donald Trump used this executive order to create this new branch and became the first Commander-in-Chief of Space Force. Thomas Jefferson created the Navy to protect American trade ships from pirates.

RUSSIA VS WESTERN EUROPE & NATO

The U.S. has obtained intelligence indicating that the Russian government has developed a plan to stage a fake Ukrainian attack to establish a pretext for military action.

NATO Secretary-General Jens Stoltenberg, meanwhile, voiced concerns that Russia continues to build up troop numbers along Ukraine's borders, including in Belarus. Here are things to know Thursday about the international tensions surrounding Ukraine, which has at least 100,000 Russian troops massed along its borders.

The NATO chief said Russian forces in Belarus are likely to rise to 30,000, including special forces, supported by fighter jets and missiles.

Russian Defense Minister Sergei Shoigu arrived in the Belarusian capital, Minsk, on Thursday to monitor preparations for major Russia-Belarus war games expected to take place Feb. 10-20. Ushakov emphasized that China backs Russia in the current standoff over Ukraine.

Ukrainian Founding

In 1994, Ukraine became the first formerly Soviet republic to experience a peaceful transfer of power via the ballot box, when Leonid Kuchma won a presidential election, replacing Leonid Kravchuk. A new constitution was adopted in 1996, but the government struggled to implement reforms and the economy stagnated. Despite rising dissatisfaction with his leadership, Kuchma was re-elected in 1999, but a protest movement calling for his resignation gained momentum in the early 2000s. A presidential election in 2004 initially showed the pro-Russia candidate, Viktor Yanukovych, a former governor of Donetsk region, to be the winner. However, evidence of widespread fraud prompted mass protests in Kiev which came to be known as the Orange revolution and brought about a new election. Victory for Viktor Yushchenko, a political opponent of Kuchma and former prime minister, raised many people's hopes that Ukraine would move towards the west, liberalizing its political and economic systems, but his reformist coalition lacked cohesion and failed to implement significant reforms. A party led by Yanukovych won parliamentary elections in 2006, and after prolonged maneuvering he was named prime minister. In February 2014, Yanukovych fled the capital, Kiev, and was subsequently impeached by parliament. A pro-western coalition took power. In late February, Russian troops, in unmarked uniforms, moved into the Crimean Peninsula to support local separatists and in March, Russia annexed Crimea. Widespread instability hit eastern regions of Ukraine, as separatist elements, with suspected backing from Russia, took control of several cities and towns. In late May, the pro-western billionaire Petro Poroshenko won a decisive victory in the presidential election,

Russo-Ukrainian War

This all ties in with the Russo-Ukrainian War. This is a conflict between Russia and Ukraine. The war started since Putin took office for this third term Putin wants to reclaim Ukraine since it was once part of the Soviet Union. Ukrainian is not the first country attempt for Vladimir Putin to take over. 2012- 2016 Putin has hyper attacked Georgia the strategy was different then. Putin thought he could retake Georgia with a cyber attack. In 2017 after Donald Trump took office as president he lifted sanctums that his predecessor Barack Obama put on NATO and Georgia. Since then Russia has leaved them alone. Now, there attention is towards Ukrainian.

Despite the soaring tension, Zelenskyy has consistently urged the Ukrainian people to remain calm. His government knows that panic — people clearing out supermarket shelves or trying to flee the country — would be massively destabilizing. That may be exactly what Russia wants: British intelligence has warned that Putin could try to exploit instability in Ukraine to reinstall a friendly government there.

On the streets of Kyiv, everything looked normal on Friday. The prevailing calm may be largely due to the fact that, for Ukrainians, this is nothing new: They've been living with Russian aggression for years. Since Putin's forces last invaded in 2014, annexing the Crimean Peninsula, war has simmered between Ukrainian troops and Russian-backed separatists in the east of the country. The conflict had already claimed more than 14,000 lives, according to Kyiv, before the tension skyrocketed with Russia's movement over the course of the last year of tens of thousands of forces to the border region.

Ukraine is the largest country in Europe. At 603,628 sq. km.

The dominant religion is Eastern Orthodox Christianity, which has heavily influenced Ukrainian architecture, literature, and music.

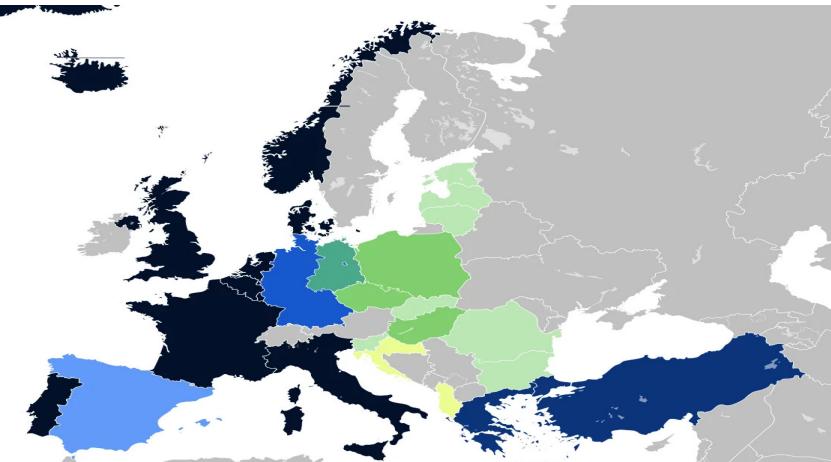

Kyiv's Sviatoshynsko-Brovarska train line, is the world's deepest metro station at 105.5 meters below the ground. The construction took place during the cold war era; the threat of nuclear bombs meant such deep-lying stations could protect the citizens of Kyiv from such disaster.

Ukraine population is slowly decreasing due to them not having enough babies and the citizens are moving for opportunities.

The Ukrainian flag consists of two horizontal bands of yellow and blue, the colors represent the wide blue skies and the yellow represents the wheat fields that characterize the country. Blue symbolizes calm, whilst yellow symbolizes joy.

These 30 countries that joined NATO USA and Canada. The rest are in Europe and Asia. Ukraine is not a member of NATO nor does it have troops its in a way unofficial member. They are allies with Europe and agreed to back them up if they call. Georgia is not a member of NATO either. Will the fighting, conflict end who knows.

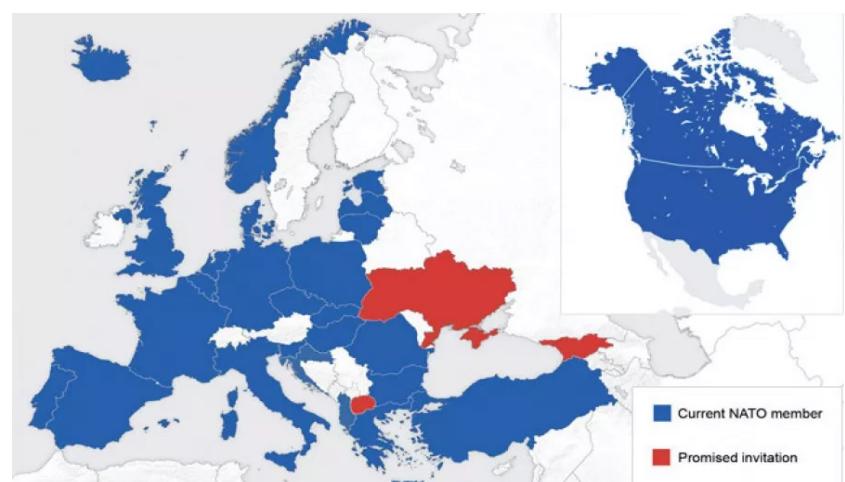

FOLLOW THE NYPOST ON THESE PLATFORMS

As you can see the countries that are black including the US has been NATO countries since 1949. The darker the colors the longer they have been members. Since the cold war ended, Soviet Union disintegrated, 12 countries immediately joined NATO. The green are the 1990s. Yellow 2000s. The countries wanted to take down the big guy since he's down. As you can see how much the SU fallen like Germany after WWII they lost land and formed new states.

NATO keep adding members Russia doesn't like this, they see it as a threat. The expand of NATO is the big reason why Russia is taking position against Ukraine. What is NATO? Nato - the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation - is a military alliance formed in 1949 by 12 countries, including the US, Canada, the UK and France.

Members agree to come to one another's aid in the event of an armed attack against any one member state. Its aim was originally to counter the threat of post-war Russian expansion in Europe.

CHILD'S EDUCATION

School choice has been the least talked about topic in the American society. School choice improves education by letting parents choose the right school for their children that improves their academics. Unlike healthcare that is a service school choice is a right that benefits the student and their future. Parents & students should pick which public school that suits them best. School choice school results in higher graduation rates, higher grades, and even lower crime rates. Public schools themselves actually improves because it pushes and motivates them to do better
